There are NO SMALL ROLES:

We strive to feature every child, but like in all things in life, everyone has their turn in the spot light and other times playing a supporting role. There are great lessons to be learned by both. Many factors contribute to casting decisions. We do our best to make sure everyone has their moment, but not everyone can be a lead role every time. We hope you will reinforce this to your campers. They are all equally critical to the success of the show. Learning to be supportive of your peers, regardless of which roles they play, is a great life lesson. Most of us performers have spent years in the background, honing our skills, before finally getting a lead role. It's amazing what hard work and determination can do!
